		finance?'. We might have a placard that says 100% clean and maybe a petition box. This is a photo opportunity not necessarily to engage with the people around. Very similar set up/expectation as there was for today's action.
Friends of the Earth International	1.5 C action	Keeping global warming below 2 degree is not a safe level and will have grave impacts on humans, nature and especially affect societies in the global south. In Paris it is important to establish the Long Term Goal of keeping temperatures below 1,5 degree in order to keep impacts of climate change at a level that we still can deal with. However, the actual ambition of INDCs will bring us not even below 2 degrees. Talking seriously about 1,5 degree means increasing ambition immediately without further delay and therefore increased ambition for workstream 2 (pre-2020). Developed countries - like Germany and France that support the 1.5 ambition target - should take the lead in immediate greenhouse gas reductions, while at the same time supporting developing countries in decreasing their emissions.	07/12/2015	9:30 - 10:15	70

Friends of the Earth International	Lost and Damaged	Loss and Damage has disappeared in the negotiation discussion. There is a text proposal but it hasn't been discussed in public for the last week in the meetings that have been open to observers. This week it's not in mentioned in the working groups. There has been no briefing on what is happening in the plenaries. We know, however that behind the scenes there have been calls for the specific exclusion of compensation and liability on loss and damage. This is unacceptable- instead of putting pressure behind the scenes it should be facing up to its responsibility to take strong action to mitigate climate	08/12/2015	11:00 - 11:30	30 temperatures below 1,5 degree in order to keep impacts of climate change at a level that we still can deal with. However, the actual ambition of INDCs will bring us not even below 2 degrees. Talking seriously about 1,5 degree means increasing ambition immediately without further delay and therefore increased ambition for workstream 2 (pre-2020). Developed countries - like Germany and France that support the 1.5 ambition target - should take the lead in immediate greenhouse gas reductions, while at the same time supporting developing countries in decreasing their emissions.

Australian Youth Climate Coalition	Polluters vs the people dance-off	Dance off between "polluters" and "people", playing songs about money and two banners that read "POLLUTERS" and "PEOPLE", at the end polluters throw some monopoly money in the air (see attached image - we can clean it up immediately afterwards)	10/12/2015	15:00 - 15:30	20

Réseau Sortir du Nucléaire	Don't Nuke the Climate Action	Nuclear power cannot solve the climate crisis. It is too polluting, too dangerous, too expensive, and too slow to play a meaningful role in reducing greenhouse gas emissions, particularly within the timeframes needed to limit warming to 2C and to mitigate the worst impacts of climate disruption. Resources allocated to nuclear power would result in faster and deeper decarbonization if allocated to energy efficiency, renewable energy, and supporting clean energy infrastructure and technologies. Global warming exacerbates the safety and security risks of nuclear power and radioactive waste, and the economic and natural resource consumption of nuclear power and the uranium fuel chain in turn exacerbate environmental and climate justice problems of economic inequality, environmental degradation, and natural resource depletion, while creating intergenerational environmental impacts that have no proven method of mitigating.	11/12/2015	09:30 - 10:00	30
