Documentation

FCCC/CP/2006/MISC.1 The provisional list of participants will be available during the course of the day.

Climate Change Kiosk

Located on the upper concourse, the Climate Change Kiosk (CCKIOSK) is staffed daily between 9 a.m. and 6 p.m. The Climate Change Kiosk's primary goal is to provide information about the climate change process and the secretariat as well as the range of secretariat publications and digital materials.

Climate Action talks A series of climate talks, on the theme of "Time for action", will be held at the Kiosk on selected days, featuring 15-minute presentations by speakers from civil society and governments. Invited speakers will focus on adaptation, technology transfer, CDM opportunities, local and regional level initiatives, and education and outreach. A full list is available from the Kiosk or via the online schedule.

4–4.30 p.m.

Reducing climate-related risk: What we need to do today

Extreme weather events (storms, floods, droughts, etc.) account for most disasters today. And, with climate change, such events are expected to increase in intensity and frequency in many cases. Those working to reduce disaster risk are taking concrete steps to reduce vulnerability to climate hazards today.

Presenter: Mr. John Harding, Programme Officer
Secretariat of the United Nations
International Strategy for Disaster Reduction (ISDR)

4.30–5 p.m.

Local voices, global choices: Encouraging debate about climate change in the South

Panos seeks to increase public understanding, dialogue and debate on climate change by supporting the media in developing countries to report on climate change stories. By working with the media and marginalized communities, Panos strives towards greater inclusion of Southern needs and voices in decisions about climate change.

Presenters: Mr. Rod Harbinson,
Head, Environment Programme
The Panos Institute
United Kingdom
and
Mr. Ochieng' Ogodo, Journalist
Nairobi, Kenya

5–5.30 p.m.

Mainstreaming adaptation in developing countries

If the development community is serious about engaging in climate change adaptation it must do so within the context of work already occurring in developing countries. Adaptation must be mainstreamed into the development process rather than become a burden for developing countries as yet another process. Drawing on examples from Tearfund's work on disaster risk reduction and recent research conducted by IDS and Tearfund, it will become apparent that there are tools available to help communities engage in adaptive responses.

Presenter: Ms. Rachel Roach
Tearfund
United Kingdom

5.30–6 p.m.

Peatland fires and floods: Combining adaptation and mitigation of climate change

Peatlands are the largest carbon store in the terrestrial biosphere. Climate change and degradation are leading to fires, floods and major greenhouse gas emissions. The presentation will show how combining mitigation and adaptation strategies is bringing benefits to local communities as well as to the global climate.

Presenter: Mr. Faizal Parish
Technical Coordinator
UNEP–GEF Project on Integrated Management of Peatlands
and Climate Change
Global Environment Centre
Malaysia
