DESCRIPTION

Youth today and the future generations will have to live with and manage the impacts of the climate crisis.

Despite their participation in climate action processes, youth are not included in decision-making or lack the information and resources to engage meaningfully.

The YEP aims to support youth in becoming effective agents of change in successful climate action and to build capacity on climate change and NDCs among youth at the national and local level through its key action areas:

Design youth-inclusive NDC processes at the country level

Support the development of youth-led NDC implementation projects

Strengthen climate change capacity building for young people

Encourage youth participation in global NDC Partnership activities
