DESCRIPTION

City WORKS is a web-based toolkit that aims to support the implementation of global agendas at the local level.

It seeks to enable urban stakeholders in realising, analysing and tackling the implications of global agendas in their specific context and according to their needs.

Offering a process-oriented approach, its corresponding steps and tools are meant to be easily integrated into typical planning cycles.

In that way, City WORKS represents a compass for advisors and cities to overcome urban challenges and align local action with global agendas.
