DESCRIPTION

This study gives an overview of how youths took part in some AF adaptation projects and interventions.

Its main goal is to understand youth engagement in the AF portfolio's enabling factors, drivers, and barriers.

It gives an overview of the relevant policies and practices of the AF that help youth get involved in adaptation projects.

It also includes short case studies that show the role of youth in climate adaptation, as well as the opportunities and challenges youth face if they want to get involved in climate adaptation.
