

Dedicated Meeting on Ways and Means to Advance the Technical Examination Process in 2015 – 10 February 2015

New Zealand intervention on renewable energy/energy efficiency:

Thank the presenters for their updates. We note the useful discussions on RE and EE that have taken place during the TEMs last year. The technical examination process in 2015 could be taken forward with an exploration of actionable policy options. This could look into energy sector fiscal instruments in the toolbox available to governments, and how they might be developed or reformed in order to enhance/multiply the positive impact of investment in RE and the successful implementation of energy efficiency programmes. This could be a useful topic to take up in the WS2 process in June.
