

Dennis Tirpak
World Resource Institute

Dennis Tirpak has worked on climate change since 1985. He has held positions with Texaco and Alcoa and was the Director of Global Change Policy Division at the US Environmental Protection Agency; the Coordinator of Science and Technology at the United Nations Secretariat for the Framework Convention on Climate Change (UNFCCC) and Head of climate change studies at the Organization for Economic Cooperation and Development (OECD). He was also a coordinating lead author on the Nobel Prize winning Intergovernmental Panel on Climate

He is currently a Senior Fellow at the World Resources Institute in Washington D.C, advising businesses, governments, and international organizations. In recent years he has written extensively on accounting issues under the convention and particularly about climate finance.