

Evy von Pfeil

Evy von Pfeil studied in Göttingen and Kiel, Germany, and has a Master of Science in Biology. She has worked in the field of Development Cooperation for more than 25 years.

After four years in Guinea and several years as an independent consultant she joined the Deutsche Gesellschaft für technische Zusammenarbeit GTZ in 2000. She started as forest policy advisor and became in early 2003 leader of an HQ-based Programme on international forest policy.

As an advisor to the Federal Ministry for Economic Cooperation and Development (BMZ) she was dealing with UNFF, regional forest cooperation, FLEGT, national forest programs, forest biodiversity, and several multi-donor trust funds.

In October 2008 she went for three years to Ghana, her main task was to follow up a pilot project in the implementation of the Non Legally Binding Instrument on all types of forests NLBI.

At the end of 2011 she returned to Germany and became the leader of the technical cooperation component of the global REDD Early Movers Program REM in the Deutsche Gesellschaft für Internationale Zusammenarbeit GIZ and since then has also closely following the FCPF.
