

Mr. Daniel Rossetto

Managing Director, Climate Mundial

Daniel Rossetto is a director of Climate Mundial, a climate finance, carbon markets and project development advisory firm, based in London. He has held this position since 2012 and clients include corporations and public agencies developing mitigation and adaptation projects and policies. His experience includes major projects in Africa, Latin America, Russia and the Asia Pacific.

Prior to joining Climate Mundial, Daniel held the position of Executive Director for environmental markets at J.P. Morgan Chase, where he was responsible for project origination and finance.

Beforehand he held positions in climate policy and markets with Enel SpA in Italy and with government in Australia, where from 2004 he served as a member of the National Emissions Trading Task Force.

Daniel holds advanced degrees from the University of South Australia and Murdoch University. He has research affiliations with the University of Cambridge and is a fellow of the Climate CoLabs initiative of MIT.
