

Mr. Luis Fiallos

National Focal Point of Nicaragua to the UNFCCC

Luis Fiallos is a civil engineer and he holds a master degree in Development Economics. He has been involved in public administration and top management positions for more than twenty years.

For two years he was Economic Advisor to the Ministry of Environment. In 1990 he established his own consulting company, leading technical and economic feasibility studies in forestry, tourism, rural development, environmental impact analysis, natural resources and protected areas.

For eight years he was Nicaragua's Deputy Minister of Industries, and for over ten years he was Chairman of the Board of the State Forest Corporation.

For three years he was Dean of the College of Agricultural Sciences and Professor of Economics.