Governance and financing of the Technology Mechanism

WANG Can, Tsinghua University, China
LIU Yang, NDRC, China

Bangkok, 5 April 2011

Contents

- The links between the Technology Mechanism and the financial mechanism
- The internal structure of Technology Mechanism
  - Relationships between TEC and CTC&N
  - Reporting lines of TM
- Additional functions for the Technology Executive Committee

Objective

... to accelerate actions consistent with international obligations on technology development and transfer to support actions on mitigation and adaptation in developing countries.

Linkage between the Technology Mechanism and the Financial Mechanism

- A specific funding window for technology development and transfer
- The TEC would recommend the policies, programme priorities, eligibility criteria for support and actions that are necessary to accelerate technology development and transfer.
- The TEC would have a role of overseeing and providing recommendations for the review process of the operating entities of the financial mechanism
- The TEC would have a role in the regular performance evaluations of projects. The results of the evaluations would feed into the TEC's guidance to the CTC and Network, and into its guidance on programme priorities, policies and eligibility criteria to the COP.

The Internal Relationship and Reporting Lines of the Technology Mechanism

- Action orientated and measureable outcomes
- An appropriate coordination, management and accountability system within the Technology Mechanism
- The TEC provides the broad framework, directions and strategy for technology development and transfer under the Convention, and guides the CTC and Network
  - could prepare multi-year strategic plans
  - could serve as the governing body of CTC&N
- The CTC and Network would be accountable to the TEC, which would ensure that its activities are closely aligned with the needs of developing countries.
- The CTC and Network would report to the TEC, through which the report of Technology Mechanism as a whole would be submitted to the COP.

Additional functions

- Evaluate the performance of development and transfer of ESTs in terms of speed, range, and size of the technological flow
- MRV the technology support for developing countries actions on mitigation and adaptation
- Properly deal with IPR
