"We face a brand new type of World War, one in which our opponent is ourselves—and our profligate burning of fossil fuels and the dangerous climate change it is causing. Like World Wars past, our only option is to mobilize and draw upon every tool at our disposal—in this case, to achieve no less than the de-carbonization of the global economy. If you want to understand the challenge we face and what you yourself can do to help ensure a victorious outcome, read Unprecedented Climate Mobilization: A Handbook for Citizens and Their Governments."
