CHANGE CONFERENCE HELD IN MARRAKECH, MOROCCO

DELIVERED BY

HIS EXCELLENCY MR. EDGAR CHAGWA LUNGU
PRESIDENT OF THE REPUBLIC OF ZAMBIA

NOVEMBER, 2016

- Your Majesty, Mohammed VI, King of Morocco;
- Your Excellency, the United Nations Secretary General, Mr. BAN Ki – Moon;
- The President of the Twenty-second Session of the Conference of Parties to the United Nations Framework Convention on Climate Change, H.E. Mr. Salaheddine Mezouar;
- The Executive Secretary of the United Nations Framework Convention on Climate Change, Ms Patricia Espinosa,
- Heads of Delegations;
- Distinguished delegates

On behalf of the Zambian Government, allow me to join the other speakers before me to congratulate you, Your Majesty, for convening this special event to celebrate the entry into force of the Paris Agreement on 4th November, 2016. This is indeed unprecedented, historical and a victory for multilateralism. This important conference offers another opportunity for Parties to demonstrate their commitment to address the global problem of climate change by taking ambitious actions to reduce emissions and build momentum towards implementation of the Paris Agreement.

I wish to assure you of my country's total support in ensuring that this Conference succeeds in delivering tangible outcomes that would enhance the implementation of the Convention and strengthen the global response to the threat of climate change.

Your Majesty,

My Government is deeply concerned that climate change poses a serious threat to our survival and has potential to reverse the developmental gains that the country has achieved so far. There is a growing risk of adverse climate change and catastrophic impact, particularly in Agriculture, Water and Sanitation, Energy, infrastructure and Health sectors. For instance, the recent variability and unpredictable nature of the climate has also undermined critical sectors of the economy such as agriculture which has resulted in reduced agricultural productivity and perennial food shortages.

In the energy sector, the decreased rainfall experienced in the past few years has resulted in reduced water levels in our major water bodies. This has led to the power deficit and subsequent load shedding through rationing power usage as the country depends largely on hydropower. Consequently, there has been a resultant loss of productivity in critical sectors of the economy such as Mining, Manufacturing and Agriculture.

Your Majesty,

My Government has taken the problem of climate change seriously and is putting up measures to address it. In this regard my Government signed the Paris Agreement on 20th September, 2016 whose entry into force we are commemorating at this special event.

By signing the Paris Agreement on Climate Change, my country renewed its commitments and resolves to take action on the ground that can put it on a path to sustainable prosperity.

To this effect, my Government has ratified the Agreement and will soon deposit the instruments of ratification to the United Nations.

Your Majesty,

In an effort to transition to a low carbon and climate resilient development pathway, my Government has embarked on a number of actions that will address climate change and ensure a safer and brighter future for our citizens. These include:

1. Formulating a National Policy on Climate Change;
2. Developing Nationally Appropriate Mitigation Actions (NAMAs) in the Agriculture, Energy, Transport, Waste Management and Forestry Sectors;
3. Implementing Climate Smart Agriculture;
4. Scaling up the use of renewable energy and energy efficiency;
5. Promoting sustainable management of forests and enhancement of the carbon sinks;
6. Climate proofing of infrastructure, such as roads and canals;
and

7. Strengthening of the early warning systems.

Your Majesty,

My Government's expectations from the Marrakech Conference include the following:

- The parties should build on the momentum gathered in Paris to take the climate change agenda forward and put in place necessary mechanisms for effective implementation of the Paris Agreement on climate change;
- Adoption of strategic decisions under the first Meeting of Parties to the Paris Agreement that would facilitate finalisation of modalities, procedures and guidelines for effective implementation of the provisions of the Paris Agreement during the time that the first Meeting of Parties will be suspended;
- Scaled up provision of financial support to developing countries such as Zambia to implement their Nationally Determined Contributions (NDCs) and other obligations under the Convention and its Kyoto Protocol and the Paris Agreement; and
- Prioritise the implementation of Mitigation and Adaptation programmes elaborated in the Nationally Determined Contributions submitted by Parties, as well as explicitly elaborated in various Articles of the Paris Agreement.

Finally, Your Majesty,

As I conclude, our expectation is that the outcome at this important Conference will provide political re-assurance and catalyse global action to minimize the adverse climate change impacts. I wish to assure you of Zambia's commitment in supporting your presidency during your tenure.

I thank you.
