Global Fuel Economy Initiative

Geographical coverage. Global.

Summary: The Global Fuel Economy Initiative (GFEI) is a partnership of 6 organisations which promotes improvement in fuel economy in light duty vehicles (LDVs) through research, advocacy and in-country capacity-building. The initiative and its partners are world leading experts in many aspects of the electric vehicles (EV) issue, and are represented in many of the key policy fora. Moreover, the GFEI has explicitly committed to extending its purview into EVs in 2016.

Time-frame: Not applicable.

Reporting: The results of GFEI's work are reported in a variety of ways from social media, publications and newsletters, and our website.

Lead or sponsoring Entity(s): FIA Foundation which hosts the GFEI Secretariat.

Partners: FIA Foundation, International Energy Agency (IEA), United Nations Environment Programme (UNEP), University of California, Davis (UC Davis), and International Transport Forum (ITF)
