Capacity-building for countries with economies in transition

Draft conclusions proposed by the Chair

1. The Subsidiary Body for Implementation (SBI) reiterated the importance of capacity-building for countries with economies in transition (EIT countries) as a critical element in the implementation of the Kyoto Protocol.
2. The SBI welcomed and considered the report¹ by the secretariat on the implementation of the framework for capacity-building in EIT countries and the information provided by Parties and intergovernmental organizations.²
3. The SBI also welcomed the significant progress made in capacity-building by Parties and various organizations in EIT countries.
4. The SBI noted that the scope of needs listed in the framework for capacity-building in EIT countries³ that are applicable to the implementation of the Kyoto Protocol⁴ is still relevant, and that the need to improve reporting activities and methodologies for estimating the effects of policies and measures and the capacity to fulfil the requirements to participate in joint implementation and emissions trading activities is of particular interest to EIT countries. Moreover, it noted that the enhancement of the capacity of climate change negotiators and efforts to continue to build the capacity of other key country-level actors (e.g. decision-makers and government officials, the scientific community, the media and educators) could assist in further strengthening capacity in these countries.
5. The SBI noted further that Parties with economies in transition still need support, and encouraged entities in a position to do so to continue to support capacity-building activities in these countries, in accordance with decisions 3/CP.7 and 30/CMP.1, and to continue to improve the availability

7. The SBI invited Parties and relevant organizations referred to in paragraph 6 above to submit to the secretariat, by February 2012, information on how they have implemented capacity-building activities in EIT countries for consideration by the SBI at its thirty-sixth session;

8. The SBI requested the secretariat to prepare a compilation and synthesis report on the information provided by Parties and relevant organizations mentioned in paragraph 7 above, and make the report available to the SBI for consideration at its thirty-sixth session.
