Shining a light on climate solutions

From lighting up slums in India with solar power to getting around Brazil by bus-based rapid transit to building more resilient communities in Mozambique, there is an enormous groundswell of action underway across the globe to address climate change.

The UNFCCC's Momentum for Change initiative is organizing a special event this evening for all participants to showcase some of these solutions. Three previous Lighthouse Activities winners will speak about how the urban poor in developing countries are leading climate action at the event.

The Momentum for Change special showcase event takes place on Tuesday, 10 June, from 18.30 to 20.00 in Room Solar inside the Ministry of Environment building and is open to all registered participants at the Bonn Climate Change Conference.
