I. Introduction

A. Mandate

1. Article 8, paragraph 2, of the Convention provides that the functions of the secretariat shall be, inter alia, to make arrangements for sessions of the Conference of the Parties (COP) and its subsidiary bodies and to provide them with services as required. In order to make the necessary arrangements for intergovernmental meetings, the secretariat periodically seeks guidance from Parties.

B. Possible action by the Subsidiary Body for Implementation

2. The Subsidiary Body for Implementation (SBI) is invited to do the following:
   (a) To provide advice or recommendations to the COP and the Conference of the Parties serving as the meeting of the Parties to the Kyoto Protocol (CMP) on the organization of their work during the 2014 United Nations Climate Change Conference, to be held in Lima, Peru, including the high-level segment, as well as on the organization of the work of the subsidiary bodies, namely the Subsidiary Body for Scientific and Technological Advice (SBSTA) and the SBI, and the Ad Hoc Working Group on the Durban Platform for Enhanced Action (ADP);
   (b) To provide advice to the secretariat on possible elements of the provisional agendas for COP 20 and CMP 10;
   (c) To recommend dates for the sessional periods in 2019 for adoption at COP 20;
   (d) To exchange views and provide guidance on the organization of the intergovernmental process, including on the engagement of observer organizations.

II. Twentieth session of the Conference of the Parties and tenth session of the Conference of the Parties serving as the meeting of the Parties to the Kyoto Protocol

A. Introduction

3. The COP decided that the 2014 United Nations Climate Change Conference will be held in Lima, Peru, from Monday, 1 December, to Friday, 12 December 2014, subject to confirmation by the Bureau and the successful conclusion of a Host Country Agreement.\(^1\) During the two-week sessional period, the Lima Conference will include the sessions of the COP, the CMP, the SBI, the SBSTA and the ADP, as well as a joint high-level segment of the COP and the CMP. The Lima Conference is expected to attract a high level of interest and to bring Parties together to advance discussions on accelerating implementation under the COP, the CMP and the subsidiary bodies and to move forward on the elaboration of elements for a draft negotiating text under the ADP.

\(^1\) Decision 28/CP.19. The dates of the conference are a revision of the dates for COP 20 and CMP 10 noted in decisions 19/CP.17, paragraph 8(a), and 26/CP.18, paragraph 4.
B. Preparations for the sessions

4. Pursuant to decision 28/CP.19, the Bureau is required to confirm that the logistical, technical and financial elements for hosting the sessions are available, in conformity with United Nations General Assembly resolution 40/243. In accordance with the same decision, the Executive Secretary is continuing consultations with the Government of Peru in order to conclude and sign a Host Country Agreement not later than the fortieth sessions of the SBI and the SBSTA. Preparations for the sessions are under way and further information will be provided during SBI 40.

C. Organization of the sessions

5. Arrangements for the opening of the Lima Conference on Monday, 1 December, will be in accordance with recent practice. The President of COP 19 and CMP 9 will open COP 20 and propose the election of the President of COP 20 and CMP 10. The COP will then take up some of the organizational and procedural agenda items, including the adoption of the agenda and the organization of work. The COP will refer items of its agenda to the subsidiary bodies as appropriate. Statements are not envisaged, except those made on behalf of groups of Parties. The opening meeting of the COP will then be adjourned.

6. CMP 10 will then be opened and the CMP will take up some of the organizational and procedural items on its agenda, including the adoption of the agenda and the organization of work. The CMP will refer items of its agenda to the subsidiary bodies as appropriate. Again, statements are not envisaged, except those made on behalf of groups of Parties. The opening meeting of the CMP will then be adjourned.

7. The COP and the CMP will convene in plenary meetings later in the week, to take up the items on their agendas not referred to subsidiary bodies.

8. The SBI and the SBSTA are expected to finalize numerous issues in the first week, including those relating to ongoing work and mandates arising from COP 19 and CMP 9, and to forward the results to the COP and the CMP for adoption. The ADP is expected to complete its work by Thursday, 11 December, and report to COP 20.

9. The principles of openness, transparency and inclusiveness will guide the organization of work in the sessions leading up to and during the Lima Conference. To this end, efforts will continue as at recent conferences to demonstrate these principles through the use of informal plenary meetings, the enhanced availability of electronic documentation, timely meeting announcements and the broadcasting of meeting information on closed-circuit television, Twitter and the UNFCCC website.

D. High-level segment

10. The high-level segment of COP 20 and CMP 10 is planned to be organized in line with the positive experiences of recent sessions of the COP and the CMP, at which national statements did not run beyond the scheduled time frame. Additional efforts are needed, however, to ensure that the COP and the CMP can be concluded within their scheduled sessional periods. With this in mind, the inauguration of the high-level segment is planned for the morning of Tuesday, 9 December, and will include the participation of high-level representatives of the host country. Statements will be made by high-level dignitaries on behalf of groups of Parties, as appropriate.

11. The COP has requested that two ministerial dialogues be convened during COP 20:
(a) An in-session ministerial dialogue on the Durban Platform for Enhanced Action;

(b) The first biennial high-level ministerial dialogue on climate finance; the COP requested the COP Presidency to summarize the deliberations of the dialogue.

12. The incoming Presidency will put in place further arrangements for these high-level events during the high-level segment in consultation with Parties and with the support of the secretariat.

13. The COP and the CMP will convene in joint meetings in the afternoon of Tuesday, 9 December, as well as Wednesday, 10 December, and the morning of Thursday, 11 December, to hear national statements by ministers and other heads of delegation. There will be one speakers’ list and each Party, including Parties to both the Convention and its Kyoto Protocol, will speak only once. No decisions will be taken in these joint meetings. Given the number of Parties, the recommended time limit for each statement, as at previous sessions, is three minutes. In accordance with recent practice, a bell system will allow for the best use of the limited time available. The full texts of the official statements will be posted on the UNFCCC website.

14. A further joint meeting of the COP and the CMP will be convened to hear statements from observer organizations in the afternoon of Thursday, 11 December. The recommended time limit for each statement, as at previous sessions, is two minutes. Separate meetings of the COP and the CMP will be held beginning on the morning of Friday, 12 December, for the adoption of decisions and conclusions emerging from the sessions. This is a half day earlier than in previous sessions.

E. Possible elements of the provisional agendas

15. Rule 9 of the draft rules of procedure being applied provides that “In agreement with the President, the secretariat shall draft the provisional agenda of each session”. Possible elements of the provisional agendas for COP 20 and CMP 10 have been prepared by the secretariat, following consultations with the President and the Bureau, and are contained in annexes I and II. The possible elements closely follow recent agendas and also reflect the outcomes of COP 19 and CMP 9. In addition, they include organizational and procedural elements, as well as the high-level segment for ministers and other heads of delegation.

16. Parties will be invited to present their views on the possible elements of the provisional agendas for COP 20 and CMP 10. Taking into account those views, the secretariat will finalize the provisional agendas, in agreement with the President, and make them available in the official United Nations languages at least six weeks before the opening of the sessions, in accordance with rule 11 of the draft rules of procedure being applied.

3 Decision 3/CP.19, paragraph 13.
III. Future sessional periods

A. Future sessional periods of the Conference of the Parties and the Conference of the Parties serving as the meeting of the Parties to the Kyoto Protocol

17. Decision 28/CP.19 accepted with appreciation the offer of the Government of France to host COP 21 and CMP 11, which will be held from Monday, 30 November, to Friday, 11 December 2015. The Bureau was requested to confirm that all logistical, technical and financial elements for hosting the sessions are available, in conformity with United Nations General Assembly resolution 40/243. The Executive Secretary was also requested to continue consultations with the Government of France to successfully conclude a Host Country Agreement for the sessions not later than the forty-second sessions of the SBI and the SBSTA.

18. The COP also noted that, in keeping with the principle of rotation among regional groups, the President of COP 22 and CMP 12 would come from the African States. The COP noted the offer from the Government of Senegal to host these sessions in November–December 2016.

19. In keeping with the principle of rotation among regional groups, the President of COP 23 and CMP 13 would come from the Asia-Pacific States. In this context, the SBI may wish to encourage the Asia-Pacific States to present an offer to host the sessions by SBI 40.

20. The SBI is invited to discuss the future sessional periods of the COP and the CMP as outlined above.

B. Calendar of meetings of the Convention bodies

21. In keeping with the recommendation of SBI 30 that future sessions be scheduled from mid-week to mid-week, where possible, SBI 40 will be invited to recommend dates for the sessional periods in 2019, as follows:

(a) First sessional period: Wednesday, 12 June, to Sunday, 23 June 2019;

22. The SBI may wish to provide guidance on the dates for future sessional periods, with a view to recommending them for consideration and adoption at COP 20.

23. The SBI may also wish to reflect on COP 21 and CMP 11, to be held in 2015. The completion of the negotiation of the 2015 agreement will place unprecedented demands on the intergovernmental process, especially in the two-week sessional period. Parties may wish to provide views on the option of convening sessions of the subsidiary bodies prior to, rather than in conjunction with, COP 21 and CMP 11, in order to reduce pressure on negotiating time during these sessions.

4 These dates are a revision of the dates of COP 21 and CMP 11 indicated in decisions 19/CP.17 and 26/CP.18.
5 FCCC/SBI/2009/8, paragraph 115.
IV. Organization of the intergovernmental process

A. Possible improvements to the intergovernmental process and emerging issues

24. The SBI has periodically provided Parties with an opportunity to discuss and exchange views on the organization of the intergovernmental process in order to inform the work of the presiding officers and the secretariat. SBI 36 invited Parties to submit their views on ways to improve efficiency and effectiveness, planning, as well as the structure of the process to streamline it, including budgetary implications. The SBI requested the secretariat to compile views and to prepare a synthesis report based on the above-mentioned submissions for consideration at SBI 38.6

25. Four submissions, including three submissions from groups of Parties, were received from Parties in 2013 and have been made available on the UNFCCC website.7 Several of the submissions raise similar views related to the organization of the intergovernmental process, including proposals for permanent intersessional meetings, regular sessional stocktaking and support for participation. Other views expressed in more than one submission included forwarding unfinished business to the next sessional period, ensuring the availability of adequate hard copies of official documentation in-session and facilitating arrangements for participation in informal in-session activities. All submissions generally expressed appreciation for the arrangements for observer organizations and made various suggestions for their continued engagement.

26. The SBI may wish to focus discussions on the organization of the intergovernmental process under the present agenda item on issues that are not being addressed by the Presidencies through the consultations under the COP agenda sub-item entitled “Decision-making in the UNFCCC process”.8

27. As the SBI was not able to agree on its provisional agenda for SBI 38, Parties may wish to discuss the views raised in the submissions referred to in paragraph 25 above as well as the issues outlined in document FCCC/SBI/2013/4. In addition, on the basis of previous discussions raised in the Bureau, the SBI may also wish to consider the following preliminary areas for discussion, keeping in mind the principles of openness, transparency and inclusiveness, in guiding the work of the Presidents and other presiding officers:

(a) The frequency and timing of COP and CMP sessions. The calendar of intergovernmental meetings has become increasingly complex and crowded over the past five years. Parties may wish to take stock of the situation with a view to recommending possible changes to the frequency of COP and CMP sessions. The work of various constituted bodies,9 including those launched under the Bali Action Plan,10 has become an important component of the processes under the Convention and the Kyoto Protocol. The 2014–2015 biennium will also see the launch of new work and meetings related to measurement, reporting and verification. In addition, there has been some discussion of whether, in the wake of the 2015 agreement, the calendar of meetings could be revisited. For example, after COP 21 and CMP 11, it may not be necessary to convene COP and CMP sessions every year but rather shift COP and CMP sessions to a biennial cycle, as is the case for a number of other treaty processes. The subsidiary bodies could continue the schedule of meeting twice a year, which would result in having three subsidiary body sessions between COP and CMP sessions to provide sufficient meeting time to advance work and prepare for COP and CMP sessions. Parties may also wish to discuss whether sessions of the subsidiary bodies would be needed in conjunction with COP and CMP sessions based on this model. In addition, Parties may also wish to exchange views on the mid-week to mid-week dates proposed for future sessions, and forward any recommendation on this matter for consideration by the COP;

(b) Measures to promote the timely closing of conferences. Completing work within the allotted sessional time and closing conferences on time has not been a regular occurrence in the UNFCCC process. Recent sessions have often extended into late hours, going beyond the planned closing time by 12 to 24 hours, and on one occasion by as much as 36 hours. This not only leads to great inconvenience for participants, but can also have major cost implications for host countries and can raise questions about the full and adequate participation of Parties in the adoption of decisions and conclusions. Some proposals have been made in this document to advance work with the goal of closing conferences in a timely manner. The SBI may wish to consider whether additional measures can be recommended to promote the best use of meeting time for consideration by the COP and the CMP;

(c) Timing of the election of the COP President. Currently, the President of the COP is elected at the commencement of the first meeting of each session of the COP and serves until the election of the next President at the following session of the COP. This election process has implications for the authority of a President when preparing for the conference at which he/she will preside. To enable the President to effectively prepare for and preside over forthcoming sessions of the COP and the CMP, the SBI may wish to consider whether to recommend, to the COP, procedures allowing for the President to be elected and take office at the end of each session of the COP;

(d) Development of coherent and relevant provisional agendas, including possible streamlining and the implications of the operationalization of several new constituted bodies. Provisional agendas across the sessional bodies have become lengthy in recent years, resulting in the proliferation of meetings within a complex schedule during a sessional period. The operationalization of constituted bodies and the various forums may provide additional space for the consideration of tasks, which in turn could lead to enhanced coordination between the SBSTA and the SBI, and less discussion within such bodies;

(e) The work of the subsidiary bodies and the implications for meeting time in the light of the implementation in 2014 of the measurement, reporting and verification process established through decisions 1/CP.16 and 2/CP.17. Discussions related to measurement, reporting and verification will require additional meeting time, in particular for the convening of working group sessions during the SBI sessions to conduct multilateral assessments, as part of international assessment and review for developed countries, and convening workshops at regular intervals in the context of international consultation and analysis for developing countries.

28. Based on the consideration of the issues outlined in paragraphs 24 to 27 above, the SBI may wish to make recommendations to the COP for its consideration.

11 See paragraphs 10, 14 and 23 above.
12 See rule 22 of the draft rules of procedure being applied in document FCCC/CP/1996/2.
B. Observer organizations in the intergovernmental process

29. SBI 36 requested the secretariat to provide, at SBI 38, an update on participation by observer organizations in the UNFCCC process, including on the implementation of the SBI conclusions on this issue from SBI 34. Parties are invited to review the update prepared by the secretariat contained in document FCCC/SBI/2013/4, paragraphs 29–35.

30. In general, there have been significant visible improvements in observer engagement in the intergovernmental process over the past few years, owing to both formal and informal dialogues among observer organizations, Parties and the secretariat. These improvements include the availability of draft negotiation texts to observers, improved access to observer submissions on the UNFCCC website, observer participation in intersessional limited-access meetings, opportunities to make presentations at workshops, use of observer inputs for the preparation of background documentation and publications, host country engagement of stakeholders in the lead-up to the sessions of the COP/CMP and open dialogues or briefings with presiding officers, such as the series of ADP Co-Chairs’ special events with observers.

31. In addition, it is noteworthy that there has been an increase in stakeholder events within conference venues focusing on specific themes, such as business, parliamentarians, the new market mechanism, women, cities, youth and civil society in general. Some were organized by observer organizations and others were held jointly with the COP/CMP Presidency and/or the secretariat and included high-level speakers. Holding high-level events is in line with the SBI 36 conclusion that suggested that the hosts of future sessions of COPs/CMPs and the secretariat explore such a possibility. These all-day or half-day events highlight actions on the ground and elicit new ideas that may lead to discussions in the formal negotiations. This trend continues in 2014, where indigenous peoples organizations also expressed their plan to hold events with a thematic focus during COP 20 and CMP 10. The secretariat continues to facilitate such theme-focused engagement within the resource constraints.

32. One of the areas that can be drastically improved is the use of technology for virtual participation. It will enable more stakeholders to remotely follow the negotiations and to participate in side events and virtual exhibits. While the secretariat managed to provide services utilizing Internet-based tools such as Skype during side events and virtual seminars on substantive issues for the youth constituency in the lead-up to COP 19/CMP 9, a large-scale deployment at COP/CMP sessions has not been possible owing to budgetary and resource constraints.

33. In the light of the above overview of observer engagement and the limited resources available to the secretariat, Parties are invited to provide further guidance on the way forward for observer engagement in the intergovernmental process.
