Option 2:

[The Parties to this agreement,]

[Being Parties to the United Nations Framework Convention on Climate Change, hereinafter referred to as “the Convention”,]

[In pursuit of the [ultimate] objective of the Convention as stated in its Article 2,]

[All Parties to enhance action and cooperate on the basis of equity and common but differentiated responsibilities and respective capabilities to further implement the Convention in order to achieve its objective as stated in its Article 2, so as to stabilize greenhouse gas concentrations in the atmosphere at a level that would prevent dangerous anthropogenic interference with the climate system, to allow ecosystems to adapt naturally to climate change, to ensure that food production is not threatened and to enable economic development to proceed in a sustainable manner that ensures resilience and adaptive capacity to the adverse effects of climate change, while recognizing the local, national, and global dimensions of adaptation in accordance with the principles and provisions of Articles 3 and 4 of the Convention,]

[Option (a): Being guided by the principles of the Convention as set out in its Article 3, including that Parties should protect the climate system for the benefit of present and future generations of humankind, on the basis of equity and in accordance with historical responsibility, common but differentiated responsibilities, and the provisions of Article 4 of the Convention / evolving common but differentiated responsibilities and respective capabilities / evolving economic and emission trends which will continue post-2020, in order to progressively enhance the levels of ambition,

¹ [Headings and subheadings used throughout these elements for a draft negotiating text are provisional and intended only to orient the reader.] [This negotiating text reflects work in progress, and does not prejudice whether the outcome will be a protocol, another legal instrument, or an agreed outcome with legal force, nor does it prejudice the legal nature of any particular provision. Inclusion of headings and subheadings are intended to orient the reader; further, they do not indicate agreement as to the structure or organization of the agreement, or as to which provisions should appear in the agreement as opposed to in decisions adopted in Paris or thereafter.]

Option (b): In accordance with the principles of the Convention as set out in its Article 3, including in particular that Parties should protect the climate system for the benefit of present and future generations of humankind, on the basis of equity and in accordance with historical responsibility and common but differentiated responsibilities,]

[Option (a): Recalling the provisions of the Convention and determined to further enhance its full, effective and sustained implementation from 2020 through a strengthened multilateral rules-based regime established by this agreement,

Option (b): Reaffirming the provisions of the Convention and determined to strengthen the multilateral, rules-based regime under the Convention through its full, effective and sustained implementation from 2020,]

[Also recalling the commitments undertaken by Parties under the Convention in accordance with its Article 4,]

[Acknowledging the role of the Kyoto Protocol,]

[Further recalling all the existing decisions adopted by the Conference of the Parties to the Convention and the Conference of the Parties serving as the meeting of the Parties to the Kyoto Protocol, including, in particular, the agreed outcome pursuant to the Bali Action Plan and the Doha Amendment,]

[Recalling the outcomes of the Rio+20 Conference, titled “The future we want”,]

[Option (a): Acknowledging that the global nature and urgency of climate change calls for the participation / widest possible participation, cooperation and ambitious action by all Parties,]

Option (b): Acknowledging that the global nature and urgency of climate change calls for the widest possible cooperation of all Parties, as well as their participation and enhanced action in an effective and appropriate international response in accordance with [equity and] their common but differentiated responsibilities and respective capabilities, and their specific national and regional development priorities, [objectives and circumstances / social and economic conditions,] with developed country Parties taking the lead,

Option (c): Acknowledging that the global nature and urgency of climate change calls for the widest possible cooperation of all Parties, as well as their participation and enhanced action in an effective and appropriate international response in accordance with their common but differentiated responsibilities and respective capabilities, in light of different national circumstances,]

[Gravely concerned by the finding in the Fifth Assessment Report of the Intergovernmental Panel on Climate Change that it is extremely likely that human influence has been the dominant cause of the observed warming since the mid-20th century,]

[Recognizing that climate change represents an urgent and potentially irreversible threat to human societies and the planet and thus requires to be urgently addressed by all Parties, and acknowledging that the global nature of climate change calls for the widest possible cooperation by all countries and their participation in an effective and appropriate international response, with a view to accelerating the reduction of global greenhouse gas emissions,]

[Being guided by the best available scientific knowledge, including, inter alia, the assessment reports / the Fifth Assessment Report of the Intergovernmental Panel on Climate Change, and inputs and resources from Parties,]

[Noting with grave concern the significant gap between the aggregate effect of Parties’ mitigation pledges in terms of global annual emissions of greenhouse gases up until 2020 and aggregate emission pathways consistent with having a likely chance of holding the increase in global average temperature below 2 °C or 1.5 °C above pre-industrial levels,]

[Option (a): Recognizing that deep cuts in global greenhouse gas emissions will be required to achieve the ultimate objective of the Convention and the long-term temperature limit / hold the increase in global average temperature, and that such cuts must be achieved within a time frame sufficient to allow ecosystems to adapt naturally to climate change, to ensure that food production is not threatened and to enable economic development to proceed in a sustainable manner,

Option (b): Recognizing that deep cuts in global emissions will be required to achieve the ultimate objective of the Convention and emphasizing the need for urgency to address climate change,

Option (c): Noting that the largest share of historical and current global emissions of greenhouse gases has originated in developed countries, that per capita emissions in developing countries are still relatively low and that the share of global emissions originating in developing countries will grow to meet their social and development needs,]

[Recognizing the importance of long-term efforts to transition to low-carbon economies, mindful of the global temperature goal of 2 °C,]

[Option (a): Also recognizing that scenarios consistent with having a likely chance of holding the global average temperature increase to below 2 °C above pre-industrial levels include substantial cuts in anthropogenic greenhouse gas emissions by the mid-century and net emission levels near zero gigatonnes of carbon dioxide equivalent or below in 2100,

Option (d): Notes that adaptation is a global challenge that must be addressed with the same urgency as mitigation,]

[Emphasizing that the integral relationship between the level of mitigation action and the efforts of all Parties will be required to adapt to climate change and address loss and damage,]

[Affirming that adaptation needs are a consequence of the temperature rise that results from inadequate mitigation action by all Parties and that adaptation is thus a global responsibility,]

[Recognizing that loss and damage associated with the adverse impacts of climate change includes and in some cases involves more than what can be reduced by adaptation and is therefore distinct from adaptation,]

[Recognizing that the best available science acknowledges that even if warming is kept below 2 °C with high levels of adaptation, there will be residual loss and damage, in particular in developing countries,]

[Reaffirming the importance of education, training, public awareness, public participation, public access to information and international cooperation on these matters for promoting changes in lifestyles, attitudes and behaviour needed to foster low-emission and climate-resilient development and to mobilize public support for climate policies and action,]

- 50.3. All Parties commit to increase efforts to adapt to climate change impacts, reduce vulnerability and increase resilience in the context of the actual increase in global mean temperature, taking into account the relationship between mitigation ambition, associated climate change impacts, and consequent adaptation needs, costs, and co-benefits;
- 50.4. All Parties commit to increase efforts to promote systematic observation and enhance national capacity in the area of scientific, technical and other research in accordance with the provisions of Article 4, paragraph 1(g), and Article 5 of the Convention.

Option 9: In accordance with the ultimate objective of the Convention, Parties agree to strive towards our planet's resilience to the impacts of climate change, including through the deployment of necessary means of implementation, and to address the adaptation needs of all Parties corresponding to the actual temperature increase resulting from the effectively implemented mitigation action.

All Parties shall increase efforts and cooperation to adapt to the adverse effects of climate change while recognizing the local, national and global dimensions of adaptation by integrating adaptation within national development planning and policies, undertaking national adaptation processes, establishing enabling environments and implementing adaptation actions, thus contributing to sustainable development.

Option 10: All Parties in accordance with the principles and provisions of the Convention and their common but differentiated responsibilities and respective capabilities agree on a long-term vision on adaptation, based on:

Structural suggestions on section I:

Transparency of support to be addressed in the context of support, transparency of mitigation in the context of mitigation.

Divide into three sub-sections: (1) commitment to participate in a single transparency system; (2) the mechanics, or component parts, of the system; and (3) the guiding principles for the system.

Restructure paragraphs 148 and 151 into three sub-sections: transparency of actions by [developed country Parties][Parties included in annex X]; transparency of actions by [developing country Parties][Parties not included in annex X]; and transparency of support by [developed country Parties][Parties included in annex X][all countries in a position to do so].

Move the paragraphs on accounting to the mitigation section.

Merge this section with section J below.

Move paragraph 152 (f) and (g) (Option 1) to the mitigation section and retain (a) and (c) in transparency section.

Include content of paragraph 152n (of Option 1) in a decision.

Include contents of paragraphs 155 to 160 in a decision.

Restructure paragraph 152 into separate paragraphs on transparency of mitigation and transparency of support.

Structural suggestions

All institutional issues should be addressed in one place.

Include specific institutional arrangements under the respective elements of the agreement. Consider the relationship between the various mechanisms once there is clarity on the content of new mechanisms.

Paragraph 212 – should be removed from section L because it deals with elements that are already addressed in other parts of the text such as finance (section F), technology (in section G) and carbon markets and land (in section D).
