

Text suggestions for WS2 from MEXICO

4 September 2015

Acknowledging that action to address climate change should take into account environmental integrity, fully respect human rights and gender equality, and promote the participation of multiple stakeholders and local and subnational governments, in accordance with nationally defined development priorities and strategies.