

Mr. Alfred Grunwald

Climate Change Senior Specialist, Coordinator for PPCR Bolivia, Inter-American Development Bank (IDB)

Alfred Grunwaldt is a climate change senior specialist in the Climate Change and Sustainability Division (CCS) at the Inter-American Development Bank (IDB). Alfred coordinates the adaptation work carried out by the division in the Latin-american region and leads various projects related to water resources and adaptation in the Andean region. He joined IDB in 2008 as a clean energy and climate change specialist.

Before joining IDB, Alfred worked as a consultant at the World Bank in the Latin American and Caribbean Environmental Sustainable Development Department, where he worked in pioneering mitigation and adaptation projects in different sectors including transport, water and sanitation, agriculture and energy.

Alfred holds a Master in Science degree on computational mechanics of materials and structures from Universität Stuttgart, Germany, and a Master in Science degree on Environmental Planning and Management from Johns Hopkins University, USA.