

Mr. Daniel Buckley

Climate Change Policy Analyst, UNDP

Daniel Buckley is a Climate Change Policy Analyst with UNDP based in New York. He is presently coordinating UNDP's participation in the GCF Readiness Programme funded by Germany BMUB and implemented by UNEP, WRI and UNDP. Daniel manages the joint UNDP-World Bank Climate Finance Options Platform, an initiative building developing country capacity and facilitating South-South knowledge sharing on climate finance issues. He also provides policy advice and covers finance and mitigation issues in the UNFCCC process.

Prior to joining UNDP, Daniel worked as a project developer for a carbon credit origination firm and consulted for multilateral development banks and national governments.