

Mr. Kepa Solaun

Partner and General Director, Factor CO2

Kepa Solaun manages the various organizations of the group, leading the most relevant projects, particularly those of greater strategic depth on emerging markets. The group, with a turnover in recent years (2012, 2013) of around EUR 20 million per year, has become a major organization specialized in climate change worldwide, with offices in Spain (Madrid, Bilbao, Barcelona), Italy (Milan), United Kingdom (Oxford), Germany (Hannover), Thailand (Bangkok) and Mexico (Mexico City).

Being the General Director, his activity is focused on strategic advice for governments and private companies on energy and climate change topics, as well as designing and executing trade operations in the carbon markets.

Among his experience, the directing role in several emission projection models (based in input-output methodologies) and the integration of environmental accountability in national MRV systems stand out.
