

impulsouth

GLOBAL COOPERATION
FOR CLIMATE ACTION

Agenda

Welcome and opening remarks

- Erin Tansey, Director of the Sustainable Inclusive Economies Program, International Development Research Center
- Corayma de Dios Estrella Herrera, Climate Solutions Lab student

Seven years on from the Paris Agreement, what have been game changers to make progress in capacity building for climate action among youth in your country/region?

- Bob Natifu, Ministry of Water and Environment, Uganda
- Michel Omer Laivao, Ministry of Environment and Sustainable Development, Madagascar

Assessing gaps in capacity and knowledge is a first step to capacity building. What have been key findings and uses of capacity gaps assessments in your country/region?

- Sara González Troncoso, Head of International Relations, National Council on Climate Change, Dominican Republic
- Gousmanne Moussa, National Council for the Environment and Sustainable Development, Niger

While stronger capacities are a building block for NDC implementation, there is still a lot we don't know about it. What are key takeaways from and for the Global Stocktake in this agenda? Please consider youth and gender in your reflections.

- Jenifer Calderon Cintora, International Cooperation Advisor, Ministry of Environment and Natural Resources, Guatemala (TBC)
- Aurelius Nkonde, Ministry of Lands and Natural Resources, Zambia

Q&A

How global cooperation enhances the effectiveness of capacity building for climate action among youth and women in the global south?

Moderator: Paula Ellinger, Climate Action Director, Fundación Avina