

Chair of the IUCN Commission on Ecosystem Management since 2016. Climate Change and Biodiversity Policy Director at Conservation International in Colombia, since 2009. Previously, she served as Director of Ecosystems of the Ministry of the Environment and Deputy Director of Geography of the Agustín Codazzi Geographical Institute in Colombia. She is an Anthropologist from the Universidad de los Andes, specialized in Geography and Rural Surveys and a Msc in Land Ecology and Land Evaluation, from ITC in the Netherlands. She has more than 30 years of experience in research in Territorial ecology, social development, and environmental policies. In recent years she has dedicated herself to promoting at a global level the issues of Ecosystem based -Adaptation and Nature based Solutions in response to the climate change and biodiversity crisis.