State of Adaptation Action by Parties.

This portal of interactive country profiles is a product of the Adaptation Committee and showcases the state of adaptation (SoA) action in each country that is a Party to the United Nations Framework Convention on Climate Change (UNFCCC). The country profiles provide information on adaptation action undertaken along the adaptation cycle and are based on the latest information available in national reports and communications submitted to the UNFCCC.

As a unique, central access point for information, this portal is designed to enhance the collective understanding of adaptation action, facilitate recognition of adaptation efforts, stimulate learning and further action, and contribute to the tracking of adaptation progress globally.
