

Together for Action:

Australian Museums & Galleries advancing ACE

Launched in April 2023, 'Together for Action' is a new initiative promoting Action for Climate Empowerment in Australia's cultural institutions. Australia's museums & galleries are trusted institutions with deep skills in creative public engagement. Many are working with their communities to build understanding of climate change & grow participation in climate action. Through exhibitions, conversations, films, workshops, education programs & digital resources, museums & galleries are fostering the cultural changes & infrastructure transitions crucial to addressing the climate crisis.

'Together for Action' has established a network and is using the shared platform of ACE to galvanise climate action in our organisations & in our communities.

This on-going initiative brings museum & gallery workers together in conversation & produces an annual communique. The communique will share ideas, build connections & report on ACE outcomes across the cultural sphere, to inform sector, governmental & inter-governmental discussions.

'Together for Action' is convened by the Australian Museum's Climate Solutions Centre, National Museum of Australia's James O Fairfax Senior Fellow in Culture & Environment Program & Sabrina Roesner (Blue Mountains City Council). Contacts:

- Dr Jenny Newell (Jenny.Newell@Australian.Museum)
- Dr Kirsten Wehner (Kirsten.Wehner@nma.gov.au)
- Sabrina Roesner (sroesner@bmcc.nsw.gov.au)

For more information see Mr Jared Huntley, Australian ACE Focal Point, at the Bonn dialogues +614 52 212 493

🌐 Great Southern Land gallery (National Museum of Australia) photo: George Serras 🌐 'Future Now' touring exhibition (Australian Museum) photo: Abram Powell 🌐 Healthy Waterways workshop with David King, a Gundungurra teacher, Blue Mountains Cultural Centre program at the Gully, Katoomba 🌐 Climate change education program (Australian Museum) photo: Abram Powell 🌐 Students at 'Future Now' exhibition (Australian Museum) 🌐 Great Southern Land gallery (National Museum of Australia) photo: Jason McCarthy 🌐 Rebecca Huntley, Talbot Oration 2022 (Australian Museum) photo: Anna Kucer

