Gregor Cigüt is Secretary General of the Global Emerging Markets Risk Database (GEMs) Consortium, an international initiative that curates the world's largest credit performance database for emerging markets. He heads the GEMs Secretariat and coordinates the Consortium's work on data, statistical reporting, methodology and analytical infrastructure, while engaging with institutional investors, banks, rating agencies and policymakers.

During his tenure, GEMs has evolved into a public good, transforming decades of development finance credit data into publicly available investment intelligence. This work supports greater transparency and improved risk assessment, while contributing to the mobilisation of private capital towards emerging markets and developing economies.

Gregor has more than 15 years of experience spanning risk management, policymaking, central banking, debt management and academia. Prior to joining GEMs, he worked at the European Investment Bank and the Bank of Slovenia, where he led teams and projects in risk management and quantitative modelling and represented these institutions in international bodies. Earlier in his career, he worked at the Slovenian Ministry of Finance on treasury operations and sovereign debt management and lectured at the Faculty of Economics, University of Ljubljana.

Gregor holds a master's degree in financial mathematics from the Faculty of Mathematics and Physics, University of Ljubljana, and is a certified Financial Risk Manager.
