

Prince Nana Kow Essel, an award-winning Energy Access Entrepreneur with focus in last mile solar, bioenergy and waste-to energy solutions. He is an alumnus of Energy Generation Academy, Lomé and a research fellow at the Waste-to-Energy Research and Technology Council (WtERT), Germany.

Currently, he is the Chief Executive Officer and Co-Founder for Maiseville Groupe, a Ghanaian for-profit social inclusive business that develops off-grid energy solutions for last mile settlements in Africa.

He holds a Bachelor's degree in Electrical and Electronic Engineering from the University of Mines and Technology, Tarkwa, Ghana.

Awards won are;

1. Winner, “MakeInAfrica” International Contest in Rome, Italy.
2. 1st Runners Up, Africa Energy Ideas Competition in Lagos, Nigeria.
3. 1st Runners Up, Africa Energy Generation Prize 2016 in Lomé, Togo.