Juliane van Voorst tot Voorst
Investment and Climate Finance Specialist
UNIDO

Juliane van Voorst tot Voorst represents UNIDO as an Investment and Climate Finance Specialist, bringing over two decades of experience at the nexus of public and private finance. Her career spans investment banking roles in New York and London, focused on emerging markets, and leadership positions within international development organizations in Vienna, where she has concentrated on clean energy and hard-to-abate industries.

Juliane specializes in closing the gap between development programs and financial markets—translating policy ambition into bankable opportunities. She believes that capital moves at scale when the right incentives, economic rationale, and risk-adjusted returns are in place—requiring true alignment across institutional investors, commercial banks, development actors, governments, and the private sector.

She holds an MBA from Yale University and specialization courses in Impact Investing and Sustainability from Oxford University and Cambridge, respectively.
