

COP29
Baku
Azerbaijan

Dear Delegates,

We conducted an extensive and inclusive consultation process that extended into the early hours of the morning, to allow the opportunity for all groups to react to the package of texts we released yesterday morning.

Taking into account the views expressed during the consultations, and what we heard from Parties at yesterday's Qurultay, we will be releasing revised texts at noon today.

We encourage Parties to continue to collaborate within and across Groups with the aim of proposing bridging proposals that will help us to finalize our work here in Baku.

We will then make minor adjustments and release the final texts this evening.