

Dear KCI Team,

It's a great honor to receive your invitation. As a NGO observer of the UNFCC, Coshare Environment has been working hard to promote the issue of just transition in the region, and is eager to find more partnerships to promote the wellbeing of people in vulnerable situations.

Here's the research background and our area of interest:

Shanxi Province is one of the world's five major coal producers and an important coal production base in China. It is typical to choose Shanxi as one of the research objects of the just transition of the coal industry. Shanxi strives to achieve carbon peaking by 2030 and carbon neutrality by 2060. With the advancement of the dual-carbon goal, new energy sources will gradually replace carbon-based energy sources, forming a diversified and complementary energy structure. And coal consumption will decline in anticipation, and the energy transition will first affect the people working in the coal industry. How to realize decent work and sustainable development for this group of people is the focus of our study on just transition.

Although Shanxi has accumulated some experience in employee resettlement during the supply-side reform, the situation of just transition in the coal industry under the dual-carbon target is even more severe. The total scale of the affected workforce in Shanxi under the energy transition is large, the scope of the industry is wide, and the risk of transition is high. Institutional design, dialog mechanism, skills training, and funding sources still need to be further explored in order to guarantee a just transition of the coal industry.

As a non-profit green development organization and collaborative innovation platform rooted in Shanxi, Coshare Environment is looking forward to bringing together more professional strengths and providing more research results for the orderly promotion of carbon peaking and carbon neutrality in Shanxi. In recent years, Coshare has also been committed to exploring the path of fair transition in various industries and cities in Shanxi, and has formed certain research results in the early stage, which can provide support for the writing of the case.

Please find the attached report for your reference, and please feel free to contact us if there are any questions.

We look forward to collaborating with the KCI to develop case studies in just transition, and working together for a more just and clean world.

Cheers,

Coshare Environment
