This meeting will present a clear plan on how to track progress towards the implementation of the Paris Agreement, enabling the world to essentially hit the ‘record’ button on climate action and assess whether it is in line with 1.5°C. By bringing together data and analytics experts, it will define how cooperative and individual climate actions will be tracked so that they appear on the Global Climate Action portal and are utilized by the broader analytical and research community. Opening remarks will be provided by the High-Level Climate Champion for Chile, Mr. Gonzalo Muñoz.
