

Dr. Joanna Post is Head of the Ocean Observations and Services Section at the Intergovernmental Oceanographic Commission (IOC) of UNESCO and is working to sustain and strengthen the Global Ocean Observing System to deliver operational services for climate, forecasting and ocean health. Before IOC, she was with the United Nations Framework Convention on Climate Change (UNFCCC) secretariat for over a decade supporting intergovernmental negotiations and leading engagement on climate change science and ocean-based action. She began her career as a science writer and communications manager and holds a Ph.D. in environmental science from the University of Newcastle Upon Tyne, UK.