

WOMEN & EARTH INITIATIVE

The Women and Earth (WORTH) Initiative, implemented through a partnership between the Asian-Pacific Resource and Research Centre for Women (ARROW) and the Danish Family Planning Association (DFPA), was born because business as usual is inadequate to meet the challenges of today and the consequences of tomorrow.

WORTH was created to build the capacity of civil society organisations (CSOs) in four countries in the Asia region who are experiencing devastating climate change consequences - Bangladesh, Pakistan, Myanmar and the Philippines, on the nexus between SRHR and climate change and how to plan/build advocacy and programmatic solutions that address the challenges in this nexus.
