

TOWARD GENDER-RESPONSIVE ECOSYSTEM-BASED ADAPTATION

Why it's needed and how to get there

Recognition of gender differences in adaptation needs and capacities

Gender-equitable participation and influence in adaptation decisionmaking processes

Gender-equitable access to finance

EbA planning informed by gender analysis

needs and capacities

EbA planning processes actively engage under-represented voices

#5

Structures set up to implement EbA actions are gender-equitable and inclusive of natural resources from EbA actions and how These building blocks for gender-responsive EbA represent key steps that can be taken at different stages of project implementation. They align with the elements of gender-responsive adaptation, providing specific considerations for planning and implementing EbA actions. Given that gender responsiveness is highly dependent on the context and the process undertaken, these building blocks represent approaches that are broadly applicable and can help ensure that EbA initiatives promote gender equality and don't exacerbate existing inequalities.

RECOMMENDATIONS FOR GENDER-RESPONSIVE EBA

- ightarrow Build capacity for gender analysis within the EbA community
- Engage gender experts in EbA planning, implementation, and monitoring and evaluation
- \rightarrow Create opportunities for women to take on leadership roles
- \rightarrow Allocate resources for participatory processes
- → Invest in building the evidence base on EbA and gender equality
- → Engage with local governance systems to advocate for equitable representation
