Welcome to the FAO Hand-in-Hand Geospatial Platform

The Hand-in-Hand (HiH) Geospatial Platform is the enabling tool for the HiH Initiative unlocking over 2 million data layers for more targeted, evidence-based interventions. This Digital Public Good provides open-access geographic information, key food security indicators and agricultural statistics sourced from FAO and from external organizations such as NGOs, academia, the private sector, and space agencies. The platform is developed and scaled up by the FAO AgrolInformatics team of the Digitalization and Informatics Division.
