

GENDER INTEGRATION INTO NATIONAL CLIMATE ACTIONS

VIRTUAL WORKSHOP

Your organization works on gender and climate change and does support countries in integrating gender into their national climate policies, plans, strategies and action? We want to support regional collaboration, cooperation and knowledge exchange by bringing actors together.

What we are planning – Virtual Market Place

In addition to the 4-hour virtual workshops we are exploring the possibility of organizing regional virtual market places/fairs where organizations can introduce themselves and the relevant work they do on gender and climate change. Organizations active at international, regional, national, sub-national and communal level are invited to express interest in participating in the market place. Slots would be limited and will be allotted according to relevance. Please note that the realization of the virtual market places can not be guaranteed at this point.

In addition to the virtual market place we are going to collate information on organizations and their work in an overview document that is going to be publicly shared. Inclusion in the document is contingent on only relevance. It is not contingent on realization of or participation in the virtual market place.

What we need from you – your message to gender-team@unfccc.int

Send us a description of the work that your organization does on gender and climate change, with a focus on how this work supports or enables countries to integrate gender into their national climate policy and action, max. 300 words. If available share a link to your webpage and contact information.

Send us a 3-minute video recording introducing your organization and the work done on gender and climate change and a PNG of your logo. Kindly, record the video ensuring high audio quality and in landscape format. As the video and description will be used for the overview document, which serves as a complement to the virtual market place, we ask you to use either presentation or interview style showing a speaker – rather than slides.

Clearly identify the country/ies in which you are active and the type of work you engage in using the below categories.
