

Just transition and decent work creation for ambitious climate action

Moustapha Kamal Gueye,
Global Coordinator, Green Jobs Programme
International Labour Organization

Socio-economic impacts of climate action

18 million net job gain through the implementation of the Paris Agreement in the energy sector

Source: ILO (2018) Greening with jobs – World Employment and Social Outlook

Enabling transitions: Skills in a sustainable energy transition, 2030

Potential job growth

Inclusive transitions: Gender and jobs in a sustainable energy transition

Job change by gender

A framework for a just transition towards environmentally sustainable economies and societies for all

Paris Agreement refers to a just transition and the creation of decent work

Process

Policy coherence and effective institutional coordination

Social dialogue, inclusion, and participation

Content

Macroeconomic policies

Industrial, sectoral policies and technology

Finance

Labour standards, human rights, gender, equity

Enterprise policies

Skills, education, training

Labour market and social policies

Labour standards, human rights, gender, equity

Occupational safety and health

Social protection

Protection of vulnerable groups