Joint Statement by Climate Week Organizers

At COP 30, Parties resolved to transition decisively towards the implementation of the Paris Agreement. Another key achievement of COP 30 was the articulation of the six thematic axes for the Global Climate Action Agenda, providing a common framework to accelerate solutions.

Climate Weeks are independent platforms that convene governments, including subnationals, business, investors, innovators, civil society, Indigenous Peoples, youth and communities across the world to drive concrete action. UNFCCC Climate Weeks are convened by the UNFCCC secretariat to advance the implementation of the Paris Agreement. Both provide opportunities to translate global climate priorities into regional, national and local action, while enabling experiences and solutions from different regions to inform global processes.

Our shared intent

We, the organizers of the undersigned Climate Weeks, intend to work together to accelerate implementation of the Paris Agreement and strengthen the collective contribution of Climate Weeks to the Global Climate Action Agenda. Through our platforms, we aim to mobilize wider participation, connect partners and advance practical solutions across regions. In doing so, we will support the efforts of COP Presidencies, the Climate High-Level Champions and the Marrakech Partnership, drawing on the six thematic axes where relevant to our respective contexts and priorities.

Throughout the year, we aim to demonstrate progress through individual Climate Weeks and collaboration between them. By connecting initiatives, partners and practical solutions, we intend to strengthen collective action and sustain momentum between COPs.

Our collaboration will respect the distinct identity, format, scale, regional context and priorities of each Climate Week. We seek greater coherence, additionality and collective impact, not uniformity.

What we will do together

Align and amplify by sharing experiences, lessons learnt, and good practices, and by supporting collaboration among Climate Week organizers.

Speak a common language by drawing, where relevant, the six thematic axes of the Action Agenda: (1) Transitioning energy, industry and transport; (2) Stewarding forests, oceans and biodiversity; (3) Transforming agriculture and food systems; (4) Building resilience for cities, infrastructure and water; (5) Fostering human and social development; and (6) unleashing enablers and accelerators, including finance, technology and capacity-building.

Promote implementation and showcase action by working with the Marrakech Partnership, through the Climate Action Agenda coalitions, initiatives and their activities and products, such as the Plans to Accelerate Solutions.

Communicate progress and support continuity by sharing concise public summaries and producing public statements with key messages, concrete outcomes and gaps identified.

Broaden participation in this shared intent by encouraging the involvement of additional Climate Week organizers, particularly from the Global South, and by supporting the meaningful participation of Indigenous Peoples, youth and communities most affected by climate change.

Together, these efforts will help maintain momentum throughout the year, showcasing individual and collective contributions to implementation, and connect local, regional, and national with global climate processes. They will provide opportunities to demonstrate progress between COPs and support a coherent journey towards COP 32 and the second Global Stocktake.

We invite other Climate Weeks to join this collaboration.
