Summary report section	Location
Emerging message that have arisen during TD1.1 and TD1.2	Increasing the consideration of equity can enable greater ambition in mitigation, with tailored approaches addressing different contexts and the impacts of response measures (pp.15)
Summary of round table 4	Assessing collective progress in and enhancing efforts made to address the social and economic consequences and impacts of response measures while implementing mitigation policies and actions towards the achievement of the Paris Agreement long-term goals (pp35)
Summary of world Café:	pp 65

- Just transitions – a way of addressing equity in mitigation.
- Economic diversification – a strategy to address negative impacts of response measures and promote positive synergies.
 - a) green industrialization, the greening of supply chains, diversifying to related and unrelated products, and the contribution of sectors such as aviation and shipping.

Assessing collective progress in and enhancing efforts made to address the social and economic consequences and impacts of response measures while implementing mitigation policies and actions towards the achievement of the Paris Agreement long-term goals (pp35)

- (a) What specific measures, policies, and programmes including financing can Parties and NPS implement to address the social and economic consequences of response measures in national and local contexts?
 - (b) How can mechanisms for consultation, social dialogue, and community engagement be strengthened to forge social consensus in the implementation of mitigation
 - policies and actions, taking into account equity considerations, in particular with respect to gender and diversity?

- Sharing experience on effective implementation of just transition policies
 - The need for sector-specific policies in energy, agriculture, fishery, extraction, and energy intensive industries.
 - Mitigation in areas such as in energy and coal mining can have much broader implications for the entire economy of a country, region, or community and thus ensuring a just transition in these areas are critical.
 - Needs to
 - a) enhancing the existing work under the response measures forum and its KCI, including the need for a UNFCCC process to assess the impacts of mitigation policies;
 - b) the need to operationalize the recommendations from the response measures and its KCI to the COP, CMP and CMA;
 - c) the need for reporting the impacts of the response measures and the just transition under the transparency process.

How do we develop creative and imaginative approaches to impacts of response measures, building on discussions at TD1.1?

- importance of taking inclusive approaches to response measures and just transition planning
- importance of detailed analysis of sectors to ensure effective implementation of the strategies.
- Suggestion:
 - creation of dedicated funding arrangements for just transitions, while it was also highlighted that the arrangements for supporting just transitions and mitigation should not be separated
 - partnerships between governments and NPS to support just transition planning and implementation.
