

In-session Workshop on Long-term Climate Finance (Part II)

(Virtual session)

7 June, 12:00–14:30 CEST

Provisional Programme

Background

The work programme on long-term climate finance was launched by the Conference of the Parties (COP) at its seventeenth session to progress on long-term finance in the context of scaling-up new and additional, predictable and adequate finance, including the USD 100B joint mobilization goal by developed countries (decision 1/CP.16, paragraphs 97–101). The work programme was extended until COP18 and concluded its work at COP19.

COP19 decided to continue deliberations on long-term finance with three types of complementary activities for the period 2014 to 2020: biennial submissions by developed country Parties on their updated approaches and strategies for scaling up climate finance; annual in-session workshops; and biennial high-level ministerial dialogues on climate finance.

At COP24, Parties requested the secretariat to organize in-session workshops in 2019 and 2020, focusing on:

- The effectiveness of climate finance, including the results and impacts of finance provided and mobilized;
- The provision of financial and technical support to developing country Parties for their adaptation and mitigation actions, in relation to holding the increase in the global average temperature to well below 2 degrees Celsius above pre-industrial levels and pursuing efforts to limit the temperature increase to 1.5 degrees Celsius above pre-industrial levels.

Part I of the in-session workshop (virtual session, held on 27 November 2020) provided an overview of the state of mobilization and delivery of climate finance and insights and lessons learned from the LTF period, which will be further explored in Part II of the in-session workshop (virtual session). Case studies may be presented on country and regional experiences relating on the effectiveness of climate finance, including the results and impacts of financial and technical support mobilized and provided to developing country Parties for their adaptation and mitigation actions.

Part II (virtual) is designed to facilitate deeper conversations among participants. In view of this, a breakout group session will follow the plenary session. Participants will be encouraged to elaborate their views and experiences and respond to queries. Each group will be facilitated by a moderator and will reconvene in a plenary to report back on the outcomes of the group discussions. Preceded by an exchange of views with moderators and participants, based on reports from the groups, the co-facilitators will wrap-up the workshop by briefly summarizing the key points raised.
