

COP 23 MEDIA ALERT: AMAZON INDIGENOUS LEADERS

Amazon indigenous leaders talk to the press about the current threats to their rights and territories.

Indigenous lands in the region stock 30 billion tons of carbon, but different activities can undermine their role in climate change mitigation, such as mining, logging and infrastructure plans, as well as the political crises Brazil currently faces.

Speakers: Chief Raoni, Kayapó; Sonia Guajajara e Isaac Piyäko, Ashaninka.

Time: 2pm, Bonn time

Date: Wednesday, November 15

Location: Bula Zone 3, Press Conference Room 2
