

What are the new challenges for the LDCs in advancing the formulation and implementation of their NAPs and how can these be addressed?

Uncertainties regarding long-term climate risks added impacts of CoVID

Availability of data of current and future climate risks which is necessary for making investment decisions and the formulation of efficient national adaptation strategies

potential challenges on finance could be adressed by implementing the Addis development finance agenda

Availability of the right scale of resources (finance) to do assessments

aligning NDC NAPs and SDGs

Lack of resources/capacity to formulate and implement NAPs, particularly in the face of the economic effects of COVID. Support for access to climate finance is vital, in a way which capitalises on indigenous knowledge.

Capacity and domestic instability, Providing technical capability and enhancing institutional mechanisms

Accessing the finance

What are the new challenges for the LDCs in advancing the formulation and implementation of their NAPs and how can these be addressed?

monitoring and evaluation

Linking NAP priorities and COVID-19 recovery efforts, which is an opportunity as well as a challenge challenges for stakeholder consultations in the face of Covid pandemic, especially in rural areas where virtual means are not an alternative

Availability of capacity building/technical assistance support improving management overall

Lack of data, finance, coordination, leadership, framing of urgency for NAPs

Balancing a quality process - participatory, inclusive, gender-responsive - with pressure to produce a NAP document

there is no clear overview of how adaptation actions have benefited locally: MONITORING

Lack of monitoring Adaptation Progress for improving action

What are the new challenges for the LDCs in advancing the formulation and implementation of their NAPs and how can these be addressed?

Develop a cross-government / cross-sector mechanism or platform that brings together key stakeholders that should be involved in a NAP process
