

-- November 7, 2:00pm CET WWF Press Briefing --

CONTACT:

Scott Edwards (WWF-International) | sedwards@wwfint.org | + 44 788 7954 116

Melanie Gade (WWF-US) | melanie.gade@wwfus.org | +1 202-495-4143

WWF Press Briefing: Opportunities to Accelerate Climate Action Now

The next three years are crucial accelerating climate action and in order to fulfill the Paris Agreement's ambitious temperature goals. During the opening of COP23 today, developing countries stressed the need to prioritize pre-2020 action along with addressing revisions of national targets, covering the period 2020 -2030.

WWF experts will provide an update on existing progress and analysis on what should be considered in order to accelerate action in the next 36 months, including collaboration with companies and cities, in the energy transition and in adaptation strategies. This briefing will be live streamed and archived on <https://unfccc.cloud.streamworld.de/live>

WHEN: 7 November

TIME: 2:00pm -2:30am CET

WHO:

Moderated by Pierre Cannet, head of climate, energy & cities, WWF-France

Inga Fritzen Buan, senior advisor for climate and energy, WWF-Norway

Fernanda Viana De Carvalho, policy manager, climate & energy practice, WWF-Brazil

Mariana Panuncio-Feldman, senior director, international climate cooperation, WWF-US

WHERE: Press conference room 2, BULA Zone (livestream here:

<https://unfccc.cloud.streamworld.de/live>)