

PACIFIC ISLANDS CLIMATE ACTION AND FINANCE: SUCSESSES, CHALLENGES AND LESSONS LEARNT

Pacific Island countries are on the front line of climate change and are already taking steps to prepare for the impacts. Access to climate finance provides hope that the much needed resources to support action will be forthcoming. Hear from three Pacific Island countries' and their experience in planning for, accessing and delivering climate finance to build resilience – the challenges, issues and opportunities. The Pacific regions' accredited entity, SPREP, will also share insights.
