

“It is important to ensure country ownership and stakeholder engagement, cross-sectoral collaboration, an understanding of the gaps and how to address urgent and immediate needs and finally, to integrate climate change into development policies and plans. To attract climate finance it is important to stimulate the demand and to ensure all of this is possible champions are needed at all levels.”