

LDCs Submission

- The work done by the secretariate is acknowledged. However, the report needs to be summarized by the secretariate and discussed in the RM sessions for more clarity.
- More meetings and sessions are needed for KCI members and observers to implement the workplan efficiently.
- The workplan should be refined to be more effective and efficient in addressing the capacity building of the parties and developing and least-developed countries particularly to minimize the adverse impacts of the response measures. Therefore, case studies will be needed to assess the gaps and the parties' needs to avoid or mitigate the negative impacts of implementing response measures on all the country sectors.
- The midterm review should be aligned with the parties' strategies, policies, and actions, primarily developing and least-developed countries as the most vulnerable countries. Therefore, the workplan must be consistent with the parties' activities.
- The national circumstance of the parties should be considered as the consequences of implementing response measures may differ from one country to another. Therefore, the KCI and forum must consider this point when assessing the outcomes and outputs of the workplan activities,
