Informal ministerial round table for a shared vision on long-term cooperative action

The President will convene an informal ministerial round table for a shared vision on long-term cooperative action during the high-level segment. The round table will enable ministers and heads of delegations to exchange views on how they intend to work in a collaborative manner to combat climate change. The round table is scheduled for Thursday, 11 December from 16.00 to 19.00 hours. The round table will also include the participation of the Secretary-General of the United Nations. Given the importance of the issue, the President would like to encourage ministers and other heads of delegation to participate in the round table in order to provide political impetus to the negotiations in 2009.

To assist ministers and other heads of delegation, the President has prepared a background document (FCCC/CP/2008/6) to help frame the debate. The document proposes a number of issues on which discussion might focus, including the importance of a comprehensive shared vision for long-term cooperative action vis-à-vis the challenges posed for mitigating and adapting to climate change and creating a suitable financial and technology support infrastructure to enable the necessary actions. The document also includes questions that may assist ministers and other heads of delegation in focusing their interventions during the round table.

To further facilitate the discussion, the President will organize the round table around three key topics, with approximately one hour of discussion per topic:

- Long-term cooperative action on climate change, towards achieving the ultimate objective of the Convention.
- Preparing ourselves for unavoidable climate change, building resilience and implementing adaptation plans.
- The architecture that will deliver on finance, technology and capacity-building and on the reporting of actions and support for such actions.

There will be no formal speakers list prepared in advance of the session. Following the opening of the round table, ministers should raise their flags to indicate their interest in making a contribution. The President will request the understanding of ministers on time limitations for interventions, which ideally should not exceed two minutes for each speaker. Ministers may wish to reflect upon which of the three topics would be most appropriate for their intervention.

The round table will take place in Alpine Accentor (Plenary 2). There will be one seat for the minister or head of delegation, and one seat behind for an adviser. Additional seating will be available at the sides and back of the room. Interpretation will be available. The round table will be broadcast live on CCTV and webcast.

The President will issue, under his responsibility, a summary of the round-table discussions for inclusion in the report of COP 14 on Friday, 12 December 2008.
