

Donor country European Union
Project/programme title Regional Programme for the reduction of environmental degradation and vulnerability (PREVDA)
Purpose To contribute to the integration of institutions and policies of the Central American region regarding water and environmental risk management.
Recipient country Central America	Sector Adaptation	Total funding €20 million	Years in operation 2006-2011
Description The target of the project is to strengthen the capacity of existing regional institutions to plan and to link territorial planning and basin management as tools for environmental management. The project aims to create synergies to increase risk identification and mitigation capabilities to diminish the impact of socio economic impacts threats on vital resources.
Indicate factors that led to project's success
Technology transferred Capacity building, best practices in basin planning and protection
Impact on greenhouse gas emissions/sinks A positive impact has been made through this project but it is currently not measurable			